REPUBLICANS PREPARE TO RE-ELECT HOOVER

SANDERS WILL DIRECT DRIVE AS CHAIRMAN

Brown Remains In Background; Curtis Is Running Mate

CHICAGO, June 17.—The Republican party set out today on its campaign fight to hold the White House for another four years.

Beneath the party banner of President Hoover and Vice President Curtis, and with a prohibition plank taking the party out of the bone dry class, the workers turned homeward today from the quadrennial national convention which renominated the 1928 ticket.

There was some anxiety among the hosts as they marched forth into the battle of 1932.

Everett Sanders, Indiana politician, one time congressman and later secretary to President Calvin Coolidge, took on today direction of the campaign under his appointment as chairman of the Republican national committee, succeeding Senator Simon D. Fess. He was selected in a national committee session at which full notice was given that funds are low and rationed low for soldiers in the coming campaign. Delegates had been prepared months ago for the inevitable renomination of President Hoover.

But many were openly dissatisfied with the retention of Vice-President Curtis on the ticket this year. There was some disappointment also over the selection of Sanders as chairman of the Republican national committee. Certain leaders had hoped management of the Hoover campaign would be in the hands of a nationally known business man who would be helpful not only in throwing high-powered executive efficiency into the campaign organization but would have many contacts with prospective campaign contributors. Money is coming slow this year, Treasurer J. R. Nutt admitted.

Republican leaders' misgivings permeated the delegates and cast a cloud of depression over the entire convention. Only once was this mood thrown off. That was for a few moments during the staged demonstration yesterday when President Hoover was proposed for renomination in the final session. The demonstration was carefully organized. Instructions of the director were flashed by means of large numerals on placards to his lieutenants scattered in the galleries. But for a few moments this stimulated activity actually seemed to sweep the convention delegates and managers out of their anxious mood. Even Senator Fess pranced about the platform holding a large portrait of President Hoover on his head.

Delegates recognizing from the beginning that the renomination of Hoover was certain, sought vent for their dissatisfactions in other directions. They found it partly in the prohibition fight which resulted in adoption of the administration modification plan which apparently satisfied neither the realists nor the real drys.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Women's National Committee for Law

HOOVER MAY CANCEL CALIFORNIA TRIP

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Hoover formally nominated for re-election, has virtually decided to cancel his proposed trip to California next month.

The President had been desirous of going to Los Angeles to pen the Olympic games and it had been suggested that he receive the formal notice of his renomination at his Palo Alto, Calif., home where he was notified in 1928. It is strongly believed that Mr. Hoover has reluctantly decided it would not be best to make the transcontinental journey at this critical time.

It is expected that the President will receive the notification and deliver his address of acceptance either at the White House or at his Rapidan fishing camp and will direct his re-election campaign from those two places.

DAVILA REGAINS POWER IN CHILE FOLLOWING BLOODLESS REVOLUTION

Former Ambassador Overthrows Grove Government

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 17.—Carlos G. Davila, former Chilean ambassador to Washington, was returned to power in Chile today by a bloodless revolt which overthrew the two week old government headed by Col. Marmaduke Grove.

Determined to "die fighting" after he received an ultimatum from the rebels, Col. Grove was forced to surrender when carabinieri guarding the presidential palace observed their tradition not to engage in civil war. Col. Grove was arrested and will be deported to Argentina.

The streets surrounding the palace were cleared for a bombardment with tanks and light artillery facing the palace and airplanes flying overhead.

Davila headed a civilian junta which included ex-Senator Pedro Cardenas and Alberto Cordero, a triumph over Col. Grove, who had forced Davila's resignation as head of the new Socialist government.

The new junta is purely nationalistic in character and is expected to be moderate. It will advocate Socialism in industry, but will not be governed by Communist ideas.

THREE CHILDREN SUFFER PTOMAIN

COLUMBUS, O., June 17.—Three children were being treated at Children's Hospital for ptomaine poisoning today.

They are Charles Donald Worley, 7, and his sisters, Willis Mae, 5, and Patricia Ann, 3.

Their mother, Mrs. Agnes Worley, also was poisoned but did not require medical attention.

The family ate a meal consisting of canned tomatoes, canned pork and beans, hamburger steak, butter-milk and apple butter. One of the foods was thought to have been tainted.

NO DEPRESSION

PARIS, June 17.—The only evidences of the depression at the Quartz Arts Ball, annual students' and artists' revel, were cheap wine instead of champagne, and cheap food and stave polish for costumes.

The celebrators wore no more or no fewer clothes than they did in prosperity days.

A number of Americans attended the ball by paying 600 francs ($24) for "honorary tickets."

AMERICAN IS SLAI IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, June 17.—The bullet riddled body of R. K. Heim, of Canbury, Conn., was found today at the side of a road outside Shanghai.

A Chinese boy, who discovered the body, said he saw the body dumped from an automobile. Heim had been shot in the head and lungs.

American were seeking another American, whom they said was a known enemy of Heim. Heim's father, Robert Heim, was said to live at Falmouth Foreside, near Portland, Me.

ANTI-MUSSOLINI PLOTTERS KILLED

ROME, June 17.—Domenico Bovone and Angelo Sbardello, who confessed plots against the life of Premier Benito Mussolini, were chained to chairs in the courtyard of Bravetta Fortress, near the Vatican, today and shot to death by Fascist firing squad.

The men were shot in the back. The firing squad consisted of twenty-four volunteers stationed fifteen feet from the anarchists.

The hands of the doomed men were chained behind their backs. Their legs were chained to their chairs.

Approximately 200 teachers will be affected.

PRETENDER TO CAPONE CROWN IS MURDERED

Machine Gunners End Gangster's Move For Power

CHICAGO, June 17.—The ambition of George (Red) Barker, gangster and racketeer, to succeed to the underworld throne of Al Capone brought him death today when he was shot down by machine gun fire.

Barker, known to police as one of the most callous of Chicago gangsters, was shot from an ambush near.

It was the first slaying of a "big shot" Chicago gangster in many months and police said it confirmed their information that the racketeer was striving for the underworld power vacated when Capone was sent to prison for income tax frauds.

Police were able to find but one witness to the slaying although it was believed Barker was accompanied by several bodyguards.

The machine gun had been set up in a room across the street from a hotel Barker frequented. Apparently the gunners watched from their post for nearly two weeks for an opportunity at their victim. Physicians took thirty-six bullets from Barker's body.

The quiet that has prevailed in Chicago's underworld for more than a year and a half was broken by Barker's slaying. Police took immediate steps to halt, if possible, a general outbreak of gang warfare.

Barker was a power in the Capone syndicate and for years had been known to police as a labor racketeer whose ruthless tactics laid a heavy tribute on organizations he controlled.

The slaying of Barker came just a week after the United Press was informed of a conference of syndicate leaders with members of a newly organized gang reputed to be headed by George (Bugs) Moran, bitter Capone enemy who had been in retirement since the famous St. Valentine's Day massacre virtually wiped out his organization.

This conference called in an attempt to effect a division of gambling and liquor territory between the leadership syndicate and the new organization broke up without agreement. Predictions were made then that a ruthless gang war was in prospect. Police feared Barker's death was the declaration of war.

FORUM PLANNED

CINCINNATI, O., June 17.—Open forum on the liquor question will be conducted this summer by the Cincinnati Y. M. C. A. It was announced today. The forum will be purely educational and will have both sides of the problem presented without prejudice or propaganda, it was stated.

Everett Sanders, former congressman and secretary to former President Coolidge, has been elected chairman of the Republican national committee succeeding E. S. Senator S. D. Fess.

EATON ACCUSED BY WITNESS HEARD BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Appropriated Stocks Probers Told At Inquiry

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Stocks valued at $16,000,000 held by Continental Shares Inc., were appropriated by Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland financier for other enterprises, according to testimony before the Senate Banking and Currency committee.

"Eaton took these stocks and his action later was ratified by a board of dummy directors," said George L. Gugle, Columbus, O., yesterday. The witness appeared as spokesman for minority stockholders in the defunct investment trust in which, according to David Stock, committee investigator, the public lost $100,000,000. "If the ratification had not been made," Gugle declared, "it would have amounted to embezzlement. These securities were bought as investments and held in portfolio. Eaton disposed of them during the years 1927 to 1930."

Stock accused Eaton of "wrecking the company, leaving the public holding the bag."

EXAMINE WRECKAGE FOR CHILD'S BODY

FREMONT, O., June 17.—The possibility of a baby having been with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Loosen, of Cleveland, when they were killed in their car, struck by a train at Helena yesterday, induced Sandusky County authorities to make a minute examination of the wreckage today without avail.

Sheriff Tom Pask and Dr. S. C. Kennedy, coroner, believed the couple had been on a vacation and must have taken their baby with them.

FIVE NATIONS SUSPEND DEBT PAYMENTS NOW

Joint Agreement Is For Duration Of Conference

LAUSANNE, June 17.—Five of the nations which called the Lausanne reparations conference, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan, jointly announced suspension today of reparations and war debts payment due them "during the period of the conference." Germany is the sixth inviting nation.

The joint declaration read at the opening of today's plenary session announced suspension of payments during the period of the conference which the undersigned governments intend to complete in the shortest time possible.

The declaration said non-payment "is without prejudice to a solution which ultimately may be reached." It requested other creditor governments to adopt the same course.

Chancellor Van Papen of Germany delivered a long address after the declaration, declaring emphatically that the moment for action had arrived.

"Reparations are now revealed as unfeasible and useless. It is time that the palliatives of delay, of adjournment, be definitely passed. It is necessary to make decisive effort," the chancellor said.

Replying to the joint declaration at a private meeting of the six inviting powers, Von Papen said:

"I appreciate fully the advantages of the declaration. I heartily welcome this as the first visible proof of the intention of the states concerned to achieve practical results and to take such complete and final decisions as are required by the existing situation."

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald read the joint declaration, which concluded:

"Noting that certain reparations and war debts payments fall due July 1, we are of the opinion that in order to let the work of the conference proceed undisturbed and without prejudice to the solution which may be ultimately reached execution of payments due the powers participating in the conference with respect to reparations and war debts should be reserved during the period of the conference, which the undersigned governments intend should complete its work in the shortest possible time.

"It is understood that services on market loans will be unaffected by this decision.

Von Papen said the respite given by the Hoover motion "and without being followed by action upon the urgent recommendation of different committees."

The declaration suspending payments, originally in the form of a resolution, retained the status of a declaration and does not have to be voted on. It must be signed. The five inviting powers signed the declaration, and the other powers will add their signature.

Suspension was considered advantageous to France, Italy, and Belgium, and a sacrifice by Great Britain. On July 1, annuities due Britain by the Hague reparations agreement from Belgium, Italy, and France total 700,000 pounds at par.

Edouard Herriot, French premier, following Von Papen announced definitely that France is opposed to cancellation.

"We are convinced cancellation of reparations would not be an effective and equitable solution of the problems before Lausanne," he said.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—In the face of a prospective request from the Lausanne reparations conference for cancellation of war debts, administration officials said today that this country would not even discuss the matter with its united debtors.

ROBBERY SUSPECT KILLED BY POLICE

CLEVELAND, O., June 17.—A man identified as William Hand, 28, of Euclid, a suburb, was shot to death in a fight with two East Cleveland policemen today.

Patrolman Harry Brown shot Hand through the head as he struggled with Patrolman Anthony Lanese, who had accosted the man and sought to question him in connection with the theft of a taxicab.

Lanese escaped death during the struggle when his left thumb was caught between the hammer and chamber of his assailant's revolver just as the trigger was pulled.

William McDonald, the taxi driver, said three men took his cab while he was eating. No trace has found of the other two men.

BURNING OIL SPRAYS VICTIMS; 63 RESCUE WORKERS INJURED

Dead And Hurt Buried Under Debris Or Blown Into Water In Montreal Tragedy; Flames Hamper Efforts Of Rescuers

MONTREAL, Que., June 17.—Several explosions in the fuel oil tanks of the tanker Cymberline sprayed burning oil over docks here, crumbled the docks on helpless, screaming victims, killed twenty-one and injured sixty-three workmen and firemen attempting to rescue them.

At least six bodies were removed from the burning debris.

Others of the crew or workmen in the Canadian Vickers dry dock here where the tanker was undergoing repairs, are missing.

Thirty or more are in hospitals where they were taken after the first two or three blasts. Some of them were practically nude, their clothing torn off by the force of the blast, or by the fire which spread to the docks under which they were pinned.

The firemen and police arrived at the dry docks a few moments after the first explosion to find many victims screaming for help under the debris which buried them. Some, rescuers reported, may have been thrown into the water and injured so severely they drowned.

Members of the crew were aboard at the time of the blast. But most of the dead and injured were workmen who had been rushing repairs, night and day, since the tanker arrived early in May from Port Arthur, Texas, with its cargo of oil.

The first explosion was in the center fuel tank. Fire followed immediately. The large force of workmen on the docks was scattered. Some crawled to safety because of the outward force of the blast. Others were hurled into the water. Many were reported buried in the wreckage.

The mechanism of the dock was wrecked by the blast. That made rescue work more difficult.

"I was standing on a small dock," Thomas Kirkland, 21, a Vickers employee, said. "I swam to a larger dock just after the explosion. There I got a boat and returned."

"I picked up five men, all badly burned. Three were beneath the dock. Two were at the stern of the Cymberline."

"Then after I got to the sheds where the men were being treated, there was another explosion. It threw burning wreckage all over the place."

Still another explosion reported a few minutes later turned out to be signal flares aboard the Cymberline ignited by the burning oil, and sending their weird lights over the burning ship and docks.

That wreckage represented a loss of more than a million dollars, it was estimated early today. The ship was owned by C. F. Bowring Interests of Liverpool.

More than seventy-five men were reported by company officials to have been employed in or near the drydock at the time of the blast. Their first explanation of the cause was that it probably resulted when gas generated in an empty oil tank was ignited by a red hot rivet.

The fire burned so fiercely five hours later that it was impossible to search for Fire Chief Gauthier and for bodies of the Vickers' workmen believed lying dead around the staging and shoring at the bottom of the dock.

Not until the fire is extinguished will it be possible to empty the pontoons and raise the dock to permit search to go on.

John Ewen, one of the twelve victims taken to the Montreal Hospital died last morning. Others severely burned were expected to add to the list of dead and missing in the wrecked dock.

MARTIN ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

CLEVELAND, O., June 17.—A four-year-old Indiana bank robbery kept Hyman Martin, Pittsburgh racketeer, in jail today after he had been acquitted on charges of killing former Councilman William E. Potter, a murder which was relegated to the list of unsolved crimes.

Martin was held in connection with the bank robbery charge immediately after a jury of four men and eight women had found him not guilty of murder after less than two hours' deliberation.

The robbery warrant, coupled with the charge of automobile banditry, shifted his place of residence from county jail to central police station, where he was lodged in a cell for the night.

William E. Minshall, his defense counsel, today was to begin a bitter fight against Indiana authorities cleared his client.

HARRY DAUGHERTY WINS JUDGMENT

COLUMBUS, O., June 17.—A verdict of $527.81 was awarded to Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general of the United States, by a common pleas court jury which heard his suit to collect $12,000 on a note he held against W. W. Wilson and Son, implement dealers of Washington, C. H., O.

The note was purchased by Daugherty from the closed Ohio State Bank of Washington C. H., of which Mal Daugherty, his brother, was president. The award represented the difference between the amount due on the note and the amount the firm had on deposit in the bank.

OLD DAMAGE ACTION ASSIGNED FOR JURY TRIAL ON TUESDAY

A nine-year-old suit demanding $5,000 damages from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. has at last been assigned for a jury trial in Common Pleas Court next Tuesday. Jury trials of two other damage actions have also been tentatively set for Wednesday and Thursday next week.

The suit against the railroad was instituted September 29, 1923 by Jacob E. Miller, W. Second St., one-time city policeman, and now operator of the local sub-station for The Dayton Power and Light Co.

The suit, which was never dismissed and has been pending in court ever since it was filed, recalls an accident on May 9, 1922 in which Miller, at that time employed as a lineman for the Dayton company, alleged permanent injuries received while loading poles on a pole car.

In his petition, Miller charged that a railroad car was shunted by railroad employees upon a switch track while he was assisting in loading the pole car. Traversing the track of its own momentum, the car struck the company truck, knocking it toward Miller in such a manner that he was crushed between the truck and two poles, he claimed.

Miller asserted an injury to his hand caused him to lose control of it with the result he frequently dropped whatever he was handling.

Another damage action fixed for a jury trial next Wednesday is that seeking a judgment for $6,351, brought by Francis A. Klein against Kenneth Pulkinson, based on an accident.

The $1,000 damage suit filed by Howard O. Glass and A. C. Glass against Arthur and Gladys R. Bahns will be tried before a jury next Thursday.

War Scribe on Bonus Front

A familiar figure wherever armies congregate, Floyd Gibbons, famous war correspondent, is shown as he interviewed General P. D. Glassford, chief of the District of Columbia Police, at the encampment of the "Bonus Army" at Washington just before the veterans held their big parade down Pennsylvania Avenue. General Glassford has been criticized in some quarters for the sympathy and assistance he has extended to the destitute vets who trekked to the capital to demand payment of their bonus certificates.

TAX PAYING PERIOD EXTENDED THIRTY DAYS IS ANNOUNCED

County Commissioners have authorized the customary thirty-day extension of time for payment of the June installment of the last half of 1931 taxes on real estate, special assessment and delinquent personal property taxes, according to Harold Van Pelt, county treasurer. The time limit has been postponed from June 20 to July 20, but no additional extension beyond the latter date is expected to be granted.

Payments on the second installment of personal property taxes will not be due until between August 1 and September 20, under the new classified tax laws.

Marking a departure from past custom, Treasurer Van Pelt reveals that his office has discontinued for the present collection period, the usual practice of stationing deputies at banks in different parts of the county to receive tax payments from rural districts. All taxpayers will be required to visit the treasurer's office to make their payments and Treasurer Van Pelt advises early visits to avoid the last-minute rush.

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR BENEFIT CARD PARTY.

A number of reservations have been made by Xenia women for the card party for the benefit of Shawnee Park at the Parish House Friday afternoon, June 24. It was announced Friday. Reservations may still be made with Mrs. Karl Babb or Mrs. George I. Graham.

The card games will start at 2 o'clock and refreshments will be served later. It is announced. Persons wishing to donate cakes are asked to call Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Babb or Mrs. Charles Kelbie, who is assisting in arrangements.

The party is under auspices of the Xenia Garden Club and proceeds will be used for the maintenance of a caretaker in Shawnee Park.

CHURCH HONORS PASTOR WITH FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Rev. Adrian Lebold, whose resignation as pastor of the First Lutheran Church here becomes effective Sunday, was honored at a reception given by members of the congregation in the church parlors Thursday evening. More than 100 members and friends of the church attended the farewell party.

Dr. H. B. McElreath, president of the Xenia Ministerial Association, spoke on Rev. Lebold's service here and Rev. W. H. Tilford, of the Presbyterian Church, told of the work accomplished by Rev. Lebold and charged the congregation with carrying on the work. Rev. W. N. Shank, of the First M. E. Church and Rev. J. P. Lytle, of the First U. P. Church were guests at the reception besides Mr. Donald E. Elder, F. Wayne, Ind., who will supply pastor at the local church during the summer.

A musical program was presented including a violin solo, "Indian Love Call," by Miss Katherine Maxwell; a clarinet solo by Mr. Verne Moothart, accompanied by his sister, Miss Inez Moothart; and a vocal duet, "A Perfect Day" by the Misses Phyllis Mellaage and Mary Maxwell. The program was interspersed with hymns sung by the congregation.

Miss Henrietta Fudge, on behalf of the congregation, presented Rev. Lebold with a black Gladstone bag and the minister graciously responded.

Later a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served at tables placed in the Sunday School room. The tables were attractively decorated with roses and garden flowers. Miss Henrietta Fudge was general chairman of the reception and was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Filson, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Umschel, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Maxwell and Mr. and Mrs. George Hershberger.

SURPRISE PARTY IS ARRANGED BY FRIENDS.

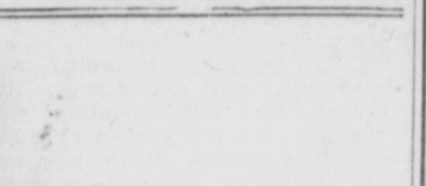

Miss Rosella Darnier was pleasantly surprised by a group of her friends Wednesday afternoon at a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Darnier, near Xenia. Contests were enjoyed and games were played. Later refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Guests at the party were the Misses Sarah Rumbaugh, Lena Darnier, Martha Jane Semler, Jean Kendig, Jane Kendig, Louise Kendig, Inez Moothart, Helen Bryson, Genevieve Snyder, Margaret Broadstone, Jean Broadstone, Virginia Bramble, Beatrice Collier, Ruth Collier, Rosella Darnier, Marietta Darnier and Louise Darnier.

The Berean Sunday School Class of Trinity M. E. Church will hold a basket picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brant U. Bell, Hill St., Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The picnic is for members and their families.

XENIA CHAUTAUQUA PLANS ABANDONED; TICKETS NOT SOLD

For the first time in a score or more of years, a Chautauqua program will not be presented in Xenia this summer.

Inability to underwrite the seven-day program, indicating a lack of interest, is advanced as an explanation of the definite decision to abandon the project this year.

The average cost of a Chautauqua presentation to the community has been about $1,700, which must be guaranteed in advance through procurement of pledges from guarantors for the sale of 100 adult season tickets or double that number of children's tickets.

The Redpath company under whose auspices the Chautauqua talent is assembled and tours the country, had made an alternative proposal to provide this city with a week's engagement on a guarantee of only 400 tickets sold, providing a suitable auditorium could be used in which to present the entertainment.

Formerly the Chautauqua programs were held under tent, and for several years past the under-canvas entertainment has been held on the old Central High School grounds between Market and Church Sts.

The counter proposition, however, has also been turned down by local sponsors, who explained that the guarantor list here is only sufficient to pledge about 250 tickets. A further canvass for additional guarantors is deemed useless, and the non-existence of an auditorium of ample size is considered another obstacle.

RAIN WASHES OUT SOFTBALL FRACAS

Rain washed out a scheduled American League softball contest for the first time this season Thursday night.

Although the weather cleared up about 6:30 p. m., the Cox Field diamond was much too moist to permit the playing of a game between Central High and the Ex-Highs, the two teams which split a double-header Tuesday evening. Consequently they will have another double encounter on their hands July 7.

A National League contest between the league-leading Lang Chevrolets, who have won six straight games, and Anderson's Abattoirs, in second place, will attract another overflow crowd to the ball orchard Friday night. The city champions beat Anderson's on the first round of play, 4 to 2, and the Abattoirs hope to balance accounts and tie the Langs for the league leadership.

BOLT OF LIGHTNING WRECKS UMBRELLA

Lightning played a queer prank upon Mrs. Evelyn G. Nicely, 120 Little St., ad compositor at The Gazette, during the electrical storm which broke over this city Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Nicely, holding an umbrella above her head, was returning home and had almost reached the house when a bolt ran down a high tension line on the property of Mrs. Raymond Osborne, and struck the umbrella, the framework of which was torn apart and the handle bent.

The tip of the thumb on Mrs. Nicely's left hand was burned slightly where it had touched the steel. She felt a shock and a temporary deafening. Otherwise she was not hurt.

The lightning bolt burned out a fuse and put the radio out of commission at the Osborne home.

GAME IS WANTED

A softball team representing the supply department of the Fairfield Air Depot desires to book a game with the Lang Chevrolets or any other recreation ball team in Xenia leagues to be played at Fairfield any evening except Tuesdays and Sundays. Communicate with H. L. Morgan, chief clerk of the supply department, at the Fairfield airport.

XENIA MERCHANTS WILL TACKLE DAYTON OWLS HERE NEXT SUNDAY

The rejuvenated Xenia Merchants baseball club, which has acquired the winning habit, hopes to be on its best behavior again next Sunday for a scheduled matinee contest with the Dayton Owls on the Washington Park diamond.

As an added free attraction, the game, starting at 2:30 o'clock, will be preceded at 1:30 o'clock by a softball contest in which a newly organized Xenia team known as the Lone Stars will make its debut, probably playing the Mt. Holly team.

PLAN FELLOWSHIP DAY HERE SUNDAY

Fellowship Day for Churches of Christ in the Xenia area will be held at the Greene County Fairgrounds Sunday, it is announced. This meeting is an enlargement upon the annual Greene County Fellowship Day for Churches of Christ which has been observed for several years.

F. S. Dowdy, Waynesburg, Pa., will be the principal speaker. He will speak on "The Unchanging Law" at the morning session and in the afternoon his subject will be "Our Holy Warfare." G. T. Bateman will be in charge of the music and the Bellbrook High School band will play in addition to congregational singing. A basket dinner will be served at noon.

ELEVEN ATTEND LEAGUE RALLY

Rager, this city, presided as toastmaster at the banquet in the evening and Miss Lois Spahr, this city, was a member of the nominating committee.

Miss Doris Hartman, Cedarville, was elected second vice president of the district Epworth League.

Persons attending from Xenia were Misses Lois Spahr, Eileen Beatty, Gergetta Barnes and Marjory Clark, Lawrence Spahr, Norris Brown, Paul Rager, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin Spahr and Rev. and Mrs. Rager.

"Bonus Army" Camp from the Air

This striking aerial view of the Bonus Army's encampment at Washington recalls the days when the boys were fighting for another cause—when there was no lack of food, shelter and plenty of ammunition. There are veterans here from all corners of the United States, camping in rude shelters and wondering where the next meal is coming from. But they're determined to stay until they receive payment.

Called in by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, Martin Conboy, New York attorney (right) and former Supreme Court Justice John E. Mack, of Poughkeepsie (left), will aid the Governor in analyzing the mass of evidence on Mayor Walker submitted by Samuel Seabury. The two lawyers will aid only in sifting the evidence, and not in reaching a decision on removal of the Mayor, the latter question being passed upon by the Governor exclusively.

Fishing for Nomination, Al?

Although he is said to be fishing for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, was after smaller game when this picture was made. The "Happy Warrior" is shown at Hampton Bay, L. I., where he spent a short vacation from politics. Al didn't say what bait he was using, but made it clear he was fishing for fish.

BEAUTIES DISPLAY LAST WORD IN BRIDAL ARRAY

Sylvia Sidney, screen player, and her girl friends are pictured displaying fashion's very last word in smart bridal array. Sylvia wears a gown and veil of hand-drawn alencon lace, the veil bordered with a pleated ruffle of mousseline de soie and caught with clusters of white lilies. Her bouquet is of lilies of the valley and gardenias. The bridesmaids' frocks are of apricot mousseline de soie and their hats are of tulle and velvet flowers of the same color. Bouquets are yellow roses.

In the event that Newton D. Baker of Cleveland is nominated for president by the Democrats and then is elected in November, this genial lady would be the White House hostess. Mrs. Baker has taken no part in politics. She formerly was Miss Elizabeth Leopold of Pottstown, Pa.

Be Seeing You!

"Sweetheart's Eyes" made into rings are the latest fad from Paris. So if you think the boy friend's eyes have that romantic, glamorous look, have one of them copied and set in a ring. Ann St. George, of Chicago, is shown here, wearing one of the new ornaments. The closeup in inset gives a clear view of the novel ring.

Bonus Army's Oldest Warriors

Fifty-seven and sixty-three respectively, Daniel J. Strickland (left) and William M. Brixler are the oldest ex-service men of the Bonus Army of occupation at Washington. Strickland served with the First Division during the World War and his buddy, Brixler, is a former member of the famous Rainbow Division. Both vets hail from Dayton, Ohio, and declare they're not going home without the bacon.

To Attack "Winnie Mae" Record

VIENNA BEAUTIES IN TWIN CONTEST

Copyright by Franz Lowy, Vienna

These Viennese twins are the first European entrants in the First International Congress of Twins which will be held in 1934 under the auspices of California's San Diego Centennial exposition. Herta von Haentjens, left, is now "Miss Austria." Sister is Renee.

THIS CALF IS DUE FOR SHEERING

Here's a calf that seems to be trying to break into the West Virginia wool market. Instead of hair it boasts of what appears to be a full fleece of wool. Now four months old, the calf is owned by D. O. Tichenell of Preston county who admits the animal occasionally gets mixed up with his sheep.

Will They Catch Twin Title?

Apparently firm believers in the old maxim about early birds, these lovely sisters, Herta (left) and Renee von Haentjens, of Vienna, are the first European entrants for the first International Congress of Twins, to be staged in 1934 under the auspices of California's San Diego centennial exposition. Herta is now "Miss Austria" and, with her sister, will challenge "Misses America" for the "Misses Universe" award.

Bride of Tragedy

Maintaining her confidence in the innocence of her young husband, despite police assertion that he has confessed, Mrs. Mary Wetherell is shown on her way to White Plains court for questioning. Police charge that Stephen Wetherell killed his father, a farmer of Hopkinton, N. Y., in order to obtain funds for his marriage. The couple had only been wed one day when the groom was arrested.

Society by the Sea

A Year of Hiccoughs

With the exception of 11 days last May Mrs. Ed Price of Russellville, Ark., has been hiccupping for more than a year. She has received hundreds of letters from well-wishers from all parts of the country, suggesting every conceivable remedy. Since she was stricken, Mrs. Price has lost 60 pounds.

"Anchoring Faith"

A Farewell Message Of

Rev. A. G. Lebold

REV. A. G. LEBOLD

Text—John 17:3—"And this is the life eternal that they might know the only true God and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent."

"The Anchors of Christian faith which will give us greater confidence, love and hope in that which we have and hold sacred—are:

The First Anchor of Faith—There is a God, the Creator, Jehovah, who understands us our life and who cares for all as his children.

The Second Anchor of Faith—Christ is the Saviour of the world. Others failed. He succeeded. Christ died for us that he might bring us to God and make it possible to live the higher life as he revealed it.

The Third Anchor of Faith—There is the Holy Spirit which is a teacher directing our minds to Christ. The divine agent in the world executing the will of God. These three anchors of faith—God—Christ—The Spirit—hold us fast.

CHAPTER 33

THERE are bright pictures in pleasant colors back in those turbulent days on which it is pleasant in memory to dwell.

That run across those dozen miles of sparkling water is distinctly one of them. But the one which was to follow was to be done in more somber colors; in a sinister key. Now, however, refreshed by a sound night of sleep, an invigorating plunge, and breakfast, we were all at the top physically and mentally. Tom was at the automobile-like wheel of the boat.

"Turn it up a little, Tom," Pau called as we glided out through the pass in the barrier reef. Obeyingly he laid his foot deeper on the throttle and instantly the powerful motor, which as we moved through the lagoon, had been purring softly, like a contented kitten, deepened to a heavy roar.

The sun glinted on the polished mahogany of the trim craft, catching points of flames on its gleaming bright work. We moved swiftly over the long, lazy ground swell. The day was still comparatively young, and the wind was cool as it whipped by. We felt the exhilaration.

"Is she open?" Larry shouted. Tom shook his head. "Give her the full-gun and see what she'll do!"

The roar deepened to a blast of base thunder, the stern seemed to settle deeper, and from either side of the knife-like prow, thin sheets of smooth water curled out like the shavings from a jack-plane.

The fan of the wake streamed out behind, white and boiling, where that spinning screw churned the brine to a smother of foam. Thus for a time we raced along at that forty-mile clip, the wind whipping and snapping our thin clothing until it stung our flesh. We laughed for joy from the sheer excitement of the thing.

"We were better than half-way across now, and grim old Tarea seemed to develop like photographic film in an acid bath. Its details sharpened momentarily. Slowly Tom eased off on the power and the thunder of the motor softened to a gentle purr. The twin sheets of water dropped at the prow, and the savage wind died again to a gentle breeze.

Slowly, steadily then as the craft laid its easy wake astern, Tarea came swimming toward us. As we stood in its twin sentinels towered higher—great spires of insensate rock thrust up there when the world was young. Born of the thunder of the motor softened to a gentle purr. The twin sheets of water dropped at the prow, and the savage wind died again to a gentle breeze.

What staggering depths of time, compared to which human life was less than the flicker of an eyelash, had flowed over them? Spontaneous laughter, the product of racing blood and tingling, excited nerves, had died. We were quiet as we slipped through the pass in the barrier reef. Tom, I recall, seemed to ease the power until the motor was running practically noiseless.

It was as though those deathless twin fingers of that twisted mountain top radiated some sinister and unknown ray—power over which that blind god sitting still held control.

An ugly god, so old that its origin had been lost back in the shrouded mists of antiquity—blinded by mere impudent man, sitting brooding, vicious and malignant now, but with power to wreck human lives. Casting that evil spell about Tarea as a magnet casts a spell about itself.

A fearsome god, soured like a withered and ancient roose, whose myriad lovers have returned to dust. Sitting silently while that illusion, time, flowed inexorably on. Deserted by the countless worshippers of dead centuries, and friendly now only with those who had once lived, spirits that moved without bodies here.

We are none of us, I think, apt to forget that landing on Tarea, the longest day we live. It is branded on memory with the flaming iron of a nightmare.

"There will be death here again."

As we came close in I saw that the lagoon jutted into a deep cove between the twin peaks, possibly 500 feet wide and about as deep, while a smooth beach of clear white sand ran around the outer shore of the island, the cove was bound by the solid rock walls of the peaks. Around this horseshoe of wall there seemed to be a natural path cut in the rock, varying in width from five to a dozen feet deep. From the rear wall of this set-back the cliffs rose sheer.

Tom eased in softly, touching the reverse occasionally to check the slow headway of the boat. We could have landed anywhere around the wall of the cove with deep water at just the right level to lay the deck of the boat flush with the path. But he seemed a bit reluctant. I think we all felt it.

"You can land at the edge of the path near where it comes out on the beach there at the left," Pau told him. Tom looked, spun the wheel and maneuvered the boat over.

Larry was the first one out. He helped the girls over. Tom backed the boat a hundred feet.

"Throw that anchor over the stern," he told me. "Pay the line out as we come in. We'll snub her bow-on, so the varnish won't scar on the rocks." I took a line out over the forward deck and made fast to a wild orange tree that grew close, while Tom trimmed and lightened the stern line.

Just as he came ashore we heard a squeal from Pilly, who had strolled down the beach. "Well, what do you make of this?" she called. Tom and I had joined the others and we all stared over to where she was standing staring intensely at something at her feet.

"Who says this island's deserted," she demanded. "Here are footprints of Robinson Crusoe's man Friday—but they are perfectly black—and look, it's the funniest thing, they look as though he had weighed an ounce—they don't dig down into the sand."

Pau suddenly froze. None of us will ever forget the way her eyes widened with horror as she studied those curious footprints. There on the white sand, as clearly as though they had been drawn with Indian ink were two distinct sets of the prints made apparently by different people—but there was not the slightest identification in the sand.

"The tupapau of the sea," said Pau through white, bloodless lips. "There will be death here again within three days!"

None of us spoke. There was per-

Ideal Burlesque Seen In Story For Screen

A grand idea for a motion picture comedy is awaiting Harry Rapf's return to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to win the consent of other studio powers.

Mr. Rapf would film a burlesque of "Grand Hotel" with all of the company's comics in the cast. Jimmy Durante would be the baron, Charlotte Greenwood the dancer, Polly Moran the stenographer and Buster Keaton the unfortunate Kringelein. Buster was once seriously considered for this role in the Goulding picture.

Producer Rapf, however, is recovering from a nervous breakdown induced by overwork and his idea cannot be decided upon for at least five weeks.

There is every indication, from what your correspondent has seen and heard, that the movies will buradaptation of Katherine Brush's novel. She also worked on the dialogue for Marion Davies' new picture.

Hollywood's youngest producer, Carle Laemmle Jr., is putting the hum of industry back into Universal, which has been at half-speed during his absence in the East and his father's illness. It looks as if he will cast Gloria Stuart for the feminine lead in the columnist story which, it is now reported, will not be called "Okay America"—so there, Winchell. He will also decide the players for "Laughing Boy", Oliver La Farge's Pulitzer prize novel.

Twenty Years '12- Ago -'32

Mr. Nelson Sparks has returned home after a short business visit in Cleveland.

Mr. George Lampert, who has been employed for some time as soloist at the Bijou Theater, has resigned for the summer.

Owing to the small attendance at the Xenia School of Dancing last Tuesday, no more dances will be held until the regular fall term opens.

After being completely renovated the Dreamland Theater on W. Main St. will be reopened this week by the owner, H. L. Binder.

CROSSES COUNTRY IN SIXTEEN HOURS

LOS ANGELES June 17.—Capt. James B. Dickinson claimed a new transcontinental speed record today for a flight with passengers after flying from New York to Los Angeles in elapsed time of sixteen hours, forty-nine minutes.

Dickinson took off from New York at 5:42 a. m. E. S. T., and landed here at 6:41 p. m. P. S. T., after making stops at Indianapolis, Wichita, and Albuquerque. His actual flying time was fourteen hours, forty-nine minutes.

He flew a plane owned by Hal Roach and carried Arthur Loew, Henry Ginsberg and William M. Melnick of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

HIS HEALTH IMPROVED 40%

After Use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

If you are constipated, read this letter which Mr. Murray had attested by Notary Public:

"Two months ago I commenced using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to relieve constipation. I am in better health today than I have been in years, due to the use of your wonderful bran. My bowels move regularly, and my general health has improved 40%."—George A. Murray, 288 K Street, South Boston, Mass.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much better to use ALL-BRAN than to abuse your system with pills and drugs—often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CLOSED STREAMS TO BE REOPENED JULY FIRST TO ANGLERS

Caesar Creek, a stream which flows through a section of Greene County and its tributaries, will be reopened to fishing again on July 1.

The Ohio program for the propagation of fish in streams of the state was abandoned, at least temporarily, Thursday when the state conservation council, on the recommendation of Governor White, ordered the reopening to fishing on July 1 of the streams previously closed under the plan.

Caesar Creek was included in the Ohio streams which were closed to fishing January 1.

The program, designed to cover a four-year period, was put into operation this year despite considerable opposition on the part of sportsmen.

Conforming with the plan, the state dumped thousands of fish to restock streams listed in the one-third to remain closed in 1932 and 1933.

KITCHEN LOOTED

Theft of two dish pans, a roaster, steam kettle and an electric iron from the kitchen in a building on E. Main St., operated by Orle A. Harness as a cigar store, barber shop and apartment hotel, was reported to police Thursday. The kitchen utensils were valued at $15. Entrance was gained by removing a screen and entering the kitchen through a window facing an alley on the east side of the building.

FARMER STUNNED BY LIGHTNING; HORSE IS KILLED BY BOLT

Jess Taylor about 38, tenant on the George Galloway farm, Springfield Pike, a mile north of Xenia, was stunned by a bolt of lightning which killed one of a team of horses hitched to a plow in a corn field during a severe rain and electrical storm at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Taylor was engaged in plowing the field, and when the bolt struck one animal, the farmer fell from the plow seat to the ground.

One horse was killed outright and the other was stunned. Taylor, who suffered severe shock, was carried to the farm house. He apparently suffered no ill effects but had no recollection of what had happened.

His sister, who was nearby in the same field, witnessed the accident. Dr. W. T. Ungard, this city, was summoned to attend Taylor.

SANDERS WILL DIRECT DRIVE AS CHAIRMAN

Enforcement, said that "regardless of the kind words spoken for prohibition in the initial paragraphs of the plank, its reference to submission brands it as a repeal measure and dry women oppose it and will accept no compromise."

Wets described it as a "straddle." Even some of the President's intimate advisors appeared disturbed over some features of the plank, particularly that which would give congress the right to prescribe method of sale and distribution of liquor in any state which abandons prohibition. They foresaw the possibilities of constant conflict between congress and local governments in such attempt to prescribe details from Washington.

Many delegates also voiced dissatisfaction over the administration's attempt to retain Vice-President Curtis as the President's running mate. The final switch of Pennsylvania's seventy-five votes after the roll call was completed gave Curtis the necessary majority.

General belief existed that Charles G. Dawes would have been nominated had he not announced he would decline. This anti-Curtis movement developed after the convention met and in face of the fact that President Hoover's spokesmen here had made known they wished Curtis renominated.

The election of Everett Sanders as national chairman to succeed Senator Fess surprised the delegates. Sanders was sergeant at arms of the convention. A faithful lieutenant was overnight made the general of the Republican forces at the opening of what all acknowledged to be the most difficult campaign since 1916.

Actually the real directing force in the campaign will be Postmaster General Walter F. Brown of Ohio. He has been the President's unofficial campaign manager. He directed the strategy of the convention here. He did not wish to leave the cabinet and stand up as national chairman to be shot at continuously. It was decided he would be more valuable working behind the scenes than out in front dogging bargains.

In his first statement as national chairman, Sanders alluded to the handicaps under which the campaign beings.

"We're starting a great campaign," he said. "We have been surrounded by many controversial questions, but when the smoke is cleared away and the issues in the platform stand out clearly, we will all go forward with the feeling that we are going to win."

"The party and its nominees stand for sound government. We will not win because we can appeal temporarily to some particular thing in the public mind, but because between now and November there will be borne home to the public mind that safety in this crisis depends on electing Mr. Hoover and Mr. Curtis."

Sanders was elected at the first meeting of the new national committee held following the final session of the convention.

Difficulties of financing the campaign were outlined at this meeting by J. R. Nutt of Cleveland who was retained as party treasurer. He said money was hard to get.

"Many persons who once contributed $25,000 could not give $1,000 today," Nutt said. "Once we had 900 persons on our payroll, but this year much of our campaign work will have to be done by volunteer workers serving without pay."

Treasurer Nutt let the new national committee in on a bit of inside information when he remarked that he favored giving the money to women workers because a woman could accomplish more with one dollar than a man with $5.

The final act of the Republican show at Chicago was symbolic of the whole. The Republican national committee, which has prided itself on being clear of debt for several years, adopted a resolution authorizing the borrowing of $25,000 for temporary expenses.

YOUTH HELD UNDER BOND FOR LARCENY; SECOND RECOVERS

Roger Leib, 21, Springfield, was ordered held under $50 bond for a hearing next Tuesday when he was arraigned before Municipal Judge Fred A. Wagner at Springfield, Thursday, and pleaded not guilty to petit larceny in connection with the asserted theft of gasoline.

Leib and Paul Liming, 21, Springfield, were accused of driving away without paying for seven gallons of gasoline they had purchased last Tuesday night at a filling station operated by Emerson Circle at Husted on the Springfield-Xenia Pike.

Liming was shot in the back and wounded critically by F. F. Bales, night marshal at Yellow Springs. The youth remains in a serious condition at Springfield City Hospital, but is expected to survive. The affidavit charging the two youths with petit larceny was signed by J. Arthur Shuman, Clark County's chief deputy sheriff.

My Platform is a full cereal bowl

IF SOME ONE could canvass the youngsters of the land for their favorite breakfast dish, he'd find a landslide vote for Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Every morning of the week, these crisp, toasted flakes start the day in millions of homes.

And what's better than a bowl of crunchy Kellogg's, served with cool milk or cream and fruit? Flavor that appetites can't resist. So easy to digest it furnishes rich energy for work, play—or just for feeling fit!

Mothers also appreciate the convenience and economy of Kellogg's. No cooking or trouble. Many servings from a package costing but a few cents.

Serve Kellogg's Corn Flakes for the children's evening meal. Kellogg's encourage restful sleep—how much better than heavy, hard-to-digest foods.

You'll prefer genuine Kellogg's. No other corn flakes have such flavor and freshness. For Kellogg's always reach you oven-fresh—because the flakes are completely sealed in an inside WAXTITE bag. It's a patented Kellogg feature. Look for the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Quality guaranteed.
